

United States Commission on International Religious Freedom

The offices of the U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF) are located within the Government Publishing Office (GPO).

If you are attending a USCIRF event or meeting, please enter the GPO building through the main entrance at 732 North Capitol Street, NW. The entrance is near the corner of North Capitol Street and H Street. Four planters with shrubs on the sidewalk mark the main entrance.

A valid photo ID is required to enter the building. After passing through security, turn right and proceed to the Visitor Center.

At the Visitor Center, you will exchange your ID for a Visitor's badge for the duration of your visit. Please wait at the Visitor Center for a USCIRF staff member to escort you to the meeting location. Due to security concerns, visitors must be accompanied at all times.
